DOSHISHA LITERATURE

Journal of the English Literary Society of Doshisha University

1. Doshisha Literature, a journal of the English Literary Society of Doshisha University, is primarily concerned with English and American literature, English linguistics, applied linguistics (teaching English as a second language), and the comparison of English with other languages (especially Japanese).

2. Doshisha Literature is published once a year and all the articles are in English. Articles are restricted to unpublished work, but papers delivered at an academic conference are eligible when that fact is noted.

3. The maximum length of an article is 25 pages, not including references and endnotes (25 lines per page at 70 strokes per line with margins of at least 2.5cm on all sides). Authors are requested to follow the latest MLA or APA style sheets.

4. Manuscripts should not include the name of the author and have a separate page with a title, the author's name, his or her affiliation, mailing address, telephone number, and email address if available. Acknowledgements and the note(s) clearly identifying the author should be included on a separate page.

5. Authors are requested to send THREE copies to the Secretariat of the Society, whose mailing address is:

    Secretariat, English Literary Society of Doshisha University
    Karasuma-Imadegawa, Kamigyo-ku, Kyoto 602-8580, Japan
   Manuscripts will not be returned.

6. Authors whose manuscripts have been accepted are requested to submit their final manuscripts together with short biographical notes as a digital file in a Microsoft Word compatible format (such as .doc or .docx).

7. Authors are responsible for the first and the second proofreading. Corrections should be limited to typographical errors.

8. It is advisable that, prior to submission, manuscripts be corrected and edited by a qualified native speaker of English.

9. Submitted articles may be reproduced electronically on Doshisha University's Digital System, or other such media, at the discretion of the editorial board of Doshisha Literature.

10. The deadline for the next issue is the 6th of January, 2017.
